DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO MARCH 6.

"By Sacrifices for the Constitution."

NEW YORK, March 5. After reviewing the reconstruction and forbearance of the American people for his successor, Johnson enters into an elaborate defense of his administration, and says he has lent himself to schemes of confiscation and oppressive disqualification, he would have been hailed as all that was loyal and true. His oath bound him to defend the Constitution, and here he could not accede to the propositions of the extremists. As Commander in Chief of the army the first thing he did, was to disband the immense host of soldiers who were eager to distinguish themselves in new fields and punish foreign intervention in Mexico. Many argued foreign war as the best means of uniting the North and South. Taking advantage of that feeling, there would have been no difficulty to direct at pleasure the destinies of the Republic and secure to himself a continuance of his Presidential career. He yielded not to the dazzling temptation of foreign conquest, and it could not be said that his ambition was of an inordinate kind. His only ambition was to restore the Union, faithfully execute the office of President and defend the Constitution. He could not be censured if his efforts were defeated by party faction. The war was a stupendous and deplorable mistake: neither side knew the other. We have experienced at frightful cost the arbitrament of the sword. Let us cling in future closer to the Constitution as our only safeguard. Who would have thought, a few years ago, that conscription, confiscation, loss of personal liberty, subjection of States to military rule and disfranchisement, with the extension of suffrage, to gratify party ends, would have taken place? It has been demonstrated by recent events, that the President cannot prevent the encroachment on the Constitution. The jurisdiction of the judiciary has been circumscribed, and the veto power rendered nugatory by a partisan majority in Congress. He offers the suggestion that as the veto power is exercised on constitutional grounds, it should, when so applied and returned with executive reasons, be referred to the Supreme Court for its decision. If it decided the bill constitutional, it should then become a law. If not, it should fail without the power of Congress to re-enact. He alludes to the history of the majority in Congress thus open to rebellion, which was being suppressed by patriotic soldiers. These men crept without question into place and power in the national councils. After all the danger had passed, then it was these pretended patriots appeared before the nation and began to prate about the thousands of lives and millions of treasure being sacrificed for the suppression of the rebellion, have since persistently sought to inflame the prejudice engendered in sections, retard the restoration of peace and harmony, and by every means keep open and exposed to the poisonous breath of party passion, the terrible wounds of a few years war, have prevented the return of peace, and the restoration of the Union even; rendered the war delusive of the purposes, promises and pledges by which the army was marshaled against treason, and the rebellion crushed; made the liberties of the people and the rights and powers of the President objects of constant attack; wrested from the President his Constitutional power and supreme command of the army and navy; have destroyed the power of the Executive Department, making subordinate officers independent of and able to defy the chief magistrate; have attempted to place the President under the power of a defiant and treacherous cabinet; officers have robbed the President of his prerogative to pardon, and rendered null and void the acts of clemency granted to thousands of persons under the provisions of the Constitution; have committed gross usurpations by legislative attempts to exercise this power in favor of party adherents, have conspired to change the system of Government by preferring charges against the President in the form of articles of impeachment, contemplating that before hearing or trial he should be placed under arrest and held in durance, and when it became their pleasure to pronounce sentence should be driven from place and power; they have in time of peace increased the national debt by reckless expenditure of the public monies and added to the burdens which weigh heavy upon the people; they have permitted the nation to suffer the evils of a deranged currency to the enhancement in price of all the necessaries of life; they have maintained a large standing army for the enforcement of measures of oppression. The people of ten States of the Union have been reduced to a condition more intolerable than that from which the patriots of the revolution rebelled. Millions of American citizens can now speak of their oppressors with more truth than our fathers did of British tyranny. They have forbidden Government to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended till their assent should be obtained; have refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to the mind, and formidable to tyrants only; they have made judges dependent on their will alone for the tenure of their offices and the amount and payment of their salaries; they have erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass the people and eat up their substance; they have affected to render the military independent and superior to the civil power, and combined with others to subject the United States to a jurisdiction foreign to the Constitution and unacknowledged by the laws: they have quartered large bodies of armed troops among us, and protected them by mock trial from punishment for murders which they committed on the inhabitants, they have imposed taxes on us without our consent, and deprived us in many cases of trial by jury; they have taken away our charters and excited domestic insurrection among us, usurped our most valuable laws, altered the fundamental forms of our Government, suspended legislatures, and declared themselves invested with the power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever. This catalogue of crime, long as it is, is not complete. The Constitution vests the judicial power of the United States in one Supreme Court, whose jurisdiction shall extend to all cases arising under the Constitution and laws of the United States. Encouraged by this promise of refuge from tyranny, citizens of the United States, when by order of a military commander given under the sanction of a cruel and deliberate edict of Congress, have been deprived of their Constitutional rights of liberty of conscience and freedom of the press and of speech, and of personal freedom from military arrest, and of being held to answer for crime only upon presentment and indictment, or for trial by jury, with the writ of habeas corpus and the protection of the civil and constitutional government the citizen thus deeply wronged, appealed to the Supreme Court for the protection guaranteed to him by the organic law, and at once a fierce and excited majority, by the ruthless hand of legislation, stripped the ermine from the Judges, transformed the sword of justice into an engine of torture, and remanded the oppressed citizen to a degradation and bondage worse than death. It will be recorded as one of the marvels of the times that a party claiming for itself a monopoly of consistency and patriotism, and boasting its unlimited sway, endeavored by a costly and deliberate trial to impeach one who defended the Constitution, and the union, not only throughout the rebellion but during his wholeterm of office as Chief Magistrate, but at the same time could find no means at command to bring on the trial even of the chief of the rebellion. Indeed, the remarkable failures of this case have so often been repeated, that for propriety sake, if for no other reason, it became at last necessary to extend to him an unlimited pardon. What more plainly than this illustrates the extremes of party management and engineering on the one hand and factious vindictiveness and intolerence on the other. Instead of seeking to make treason odious, it would, in truth, seem to have been the purpose rather to make the defense of the Constitution and the faithful enforcement and punishment of fidelity to an oath of office, if contrary to party dictation, by any means at their command. One of the reserved rights of the States is that each may declare the qualifications of its electors. It is assumed that Congress can control this right, which can never be taken from the States without impairing the principles of the Government. When deprived of this prerogative the States cease to be worth retaining, but will be subject to the arbitrary will of Congress. The government will then be centralized. This proves that the people should require these branches of the Government to act within the Constitution. I look forward to the young men, upon whom will devolve the duty of perpetuating the [illegible]. The [illegible] should be studied. [illegible] the [illegible] declaration [illegible] I have [illegible] have [illegible] the [illegible] thoughts have [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the banner of the [illegible] [illegible]

Venice Described.

Hon. Ellis H. Roberts, editor of the Utica (N. Y. Herald, who has recently returned from a visit to Europe, gives the following graphic description of Venice:

You enter Venice with bated breath. Away to the left are the spurs of the Alps. You have passed through orchards, and vineyards, in close with the fig and olive, the nectarine and the plum, the pear and the grape. You have crossed fields every particle of whose soil is historic. You turn from all as you enter upon the bridge of more than two hundred arches, crossing the broad lagoon, which divides the main land of Italy from the object of your dreams. Your eyes and your ears and your heart are busy. A confused mass roofs, of towers, just rising out of the water; the distant peal of bells from one of the many churches; watermen in strange boats moving lazily about; mingle in marvelous melody of sight and sound: then you pass through the invisible appurtenances of a railway station; you try your dubious French upon an Italian porter; two or three assistants [illegible] your baggage, you find yourself led to the water's brink, and you are seated in a gondola on the Grand Canal of Venice.

This water is that of the Adriatic. The earth is islands, upon which, hardly emerging from the sea, refugees, as early as 421, hid themselves from the incursions of the northern hordes. To make themselves homes, they drove piles down into the marshy soil; the narrow channels leading from the ocean, they gradually walled and fashioned into canals; their situation educated them to sea-craft. The islands constituted natural divisions, and the inhabitants of each made and executed their own laws. Three score of republics were weak for assault or defence against external foes. They chose a leader—a doge, and retained their local self-government. The United Republics of Venice arose. The triumphs of 1,300 years of freedom are recorded in these proud walls. These marbles speak to them. This canvas gives to them an immortality forever new. The first Napoleon accused the indignation of every scholar, of every lover of the fit and the worthy, when he refused to recognize the neutrality of the Republic, and let loose his eagles against it, in its decrepitude, crushing out the remnant of its independence. When on May 12, 1797, he imposed a new constitution upon Venice, after 1,300 years of as proud a record as history furnishes for so small a territory, and so limited a population, the Venitian Republic perished. The Frenchman, the Italian and the Austrian have in turn dominated over her and accelerated her decadence. Now, as an appendage of the crown of Victor Emanuel, the rare, quaint city lies listless and mute upon her islands, hardly alive, but like some mummy preserved by precious gums and spices, in whose skeleton and whose wrappings we may learn something of what she was in the lustiness of her beauty and her prowess.

WONDERFUL VITALITY.—The case of George Gilbert, who was killed by Henry Benjamin, at Truckee, a short time ago, presented a remarkable instance of superior vitality. After receiving a ball from a six shooter, which entered near the left nipple and passed directly through his heart, Gilbert drew and fired a derringer at his antagonist, and maintained a struggle with him, during which they shuffled several times across the room, Gilbert holding Benjamin by the coat collar, and displaying superior physical ability. In this case extraordinary vitality and great force of will for a time successfully resisted the effects of a wound which medical and surgical science would [illegible]

THE AGE OF OUR EARTH.—Among the astounding discoveries of modern science, is that of the immense periods that have passed in the gradual formation of the earth. So vast were the cycles of the time preceding the appearance of man on the surface of our globe, that our own period seems as yesterday when compared with the epochs that have gone before it. Had we only the evidence of the deposits of rocks heaped above each other in regular strata by the slow accumulation of materials, they alone would convince us of the long and slow maturing of God's works on earth; but when we add to these the successive population of whose life this world has been the theatre, and whose remains are hidden in the rocks into which the mud, or sand, or soil, of whatever kind, on which they lived, has hardened in the course of time—or the enormous chains of mountains whose upheaval divided these periods of quiet accumulation by great convulsions—or changes of a different nature in the configurations of our globe, as the sinking of lands beneath the ocean, or the gradual risings of continents and island above—or the slow growth of the coral reefs, those wonderful sea-walks, raised by the little ocean architects whose own bodies furnish both the building stones and the cement that binds them together, and who have worked so busily during the long centuries, mountain chains, islands, and long lines of coast consisting solely of their remains—or the countless forests that have grown up, flourished and decayed, to fill the store houses of coal, that feed the fires of the human race—if we consider all these records of the past, the intellect fails to grasp a chronology of which our experience furnishes no data, and time that lies behind us seems as much an eternity to our conception, as the future that stretches indefinitely before us.—Agassiz.

THEODORE HOOK AND HIS PRINTERS.—In the printing office of Mr. Bentley, brother of the publisher, there was an old compositor who went by the nickname of "Twaddle." In completing a sheet of one of Mr. Hook's novels, the copy was given out in small "takes" or portions, to each one of which the compositor's name was, as usual, appended. When the proof was sent out to the author, there appeared a line drawn down the margin of a certain page with the word "Twaddle" at the side. Mr. Hook received his proof, read it, and brought it back to the office—with the remark that, "though he was not above criticism, he did not think the printer was quite the man to make it." Mr. Bentley sent for the overseer, who explained the circumstances to the novelist. Mr. Hook heard him patiently, but was by no means satisfied with the explanation offered. "It is very ingenious of you, Mr. Overseer," said he, he, "explain away the matter in that fashion. I have read the passage over and over again, and though it is certainly very brilliant, I don't think it deserves to be called twaddle" The overseer protested, and assured him that the man was so called in the office, and offered to send for him to confirm his assertion. But Theodore Hook would not be convinced. "Well, well," he observed, "I shall say no more about it; but don't let it occur again. Twaddle, indeed."

A Boston paper says a Boston boy twenty-one years of age, Paul West, has, within the year purchased at Calcutta two cargoes of merchandise; at Rangoon two cargoes, and in China two cargoes of teas, and shipped them to Boston, without the aid of any resident merchants—exceptional in the case of Calcutta, but at Rangoon, and China, the first time it has ever been accomplished by one of any nation.

The lightest wooden racebout yet constructed has just been finished in Boston. It is a single shell outrigger shell of Spanish cedar, 30 feet 7 inches long, 12 inches wide and 6 3-8 inches deep amidship, 4 feet 11 inches wide across the row locks, 3 inches deep aft and 4 1-2 inches forward which, when complete, will weigh only 24 pounds.

STOW FOUNDATION PAVEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO January 15, 1869

Hon. Frank McCoppin, Mayor of San Francisco—Dear Sir: You have now been connected with our City Government as Supervisor and Mayor for the past nine years, during which time you must have given a great deal of attention to Street Paving and I now ask it as a special favor to me, that you will give briefly in writing, the result of your convictions relative to the several styles of street paving now in use in this city. By so doing you will much oblige

Your obedient servant
H. F. WILLIAMS
Pres. dent Stow Foundation Pavement Co

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 20th, 1869

Henry F Williams, Esq., President of the S F P Co—Dear Sir: Your communication of yesterday, requesting me to give in writing my opinion relative to the several kinds of street pavement now in use in this city, is before me, and in reply I would say, that at the time I became a municipal officer, of this city, in 1850 and for many years thereafter cobble stone was the only kind of pavement used by the city in its corporate, and by individuals in their individual capacity. About five years ago the Nicolson pavement was introduced here by Mr. J J Robbins, assignee of the owner of the patent, and was received with much favor by our citizens. Very many portions of our streets are now paved with the Nicolson Pavement, so-called—still later—that is to say, about two years ago, the "Stow Foundation Pavement" was introduced here by the inventor, and many of our public streets have since been paved with said pavement.

A sufficient length of time has, I think, elapsed to enable any person who has given the subject any attention, to form an intelligent opinion as to the merits of the respective wooden pavements—of course, I leave out of consideration the cobble-stones out of view entirely—and I have come to the conclusion, that, in many respects, and in an adaptability to our wants and in durability, the Stow is the superior pavement. But, were the two pavements equal in every other respect, the facility with which the Stow can be taken up and relaid, whenever it becomes necessary for its place it for the purpose of laying down gas and water pipes, should, in my judgment, entitle it to preference in public favor.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
FRANK McCOPPIN,
Mayor of the City of San Francisco.

We, the undersigned, have carefully read the above letter from his Honor, Frank McCoppin, to H. F. Williams, Esq., upon the subject of street paving, and we fully indorse every word it contains.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON for the county of Multnomah—Henry L. Pittock, Plaintiff, vs. James P O Lownsdale, Administrator, James P O Lownsdale, Guardian of Millard O Lownsdale, Millard O Lownsdale, Ruth A. Lownsdale, John A Blanchard her Guardian, Ida Squires, Wm. E. Cooper her Guardian, Emma S. Lamb and John R. Lamb her husband, Mary E. Cooper and Wm E Cooper her husband, James P. O Lownsdale and Hannah and Hiram Smith, Defendants.—Summons in equity to quiet title to Block 215, City of Portland, Oregon.—To Ida Squires, one of the Defendants above named: Whereas the plaintiff above named has filed in the Court above named a complaint, of which you are hereby notified, and claims title to that parcel of land known as Block No. 215 in the City of Portland, Oregon, to which, it is said, you and other defendants set up some claim adverse to plaintiff, and prays that said adverse claim be determined and that you be excluded from any lien, interest or estate in said land; and whereas a summons was duly issued and you were required to answer said complaint in ten days if served in said county or within twenty days if served out of said county; and you were not served within said State, but it was shown that you were a non-resident of the State of Oregon, and an order of publication was made by said Court, to the end that you might be notified of the pendency of this suit: Now, therefore, in the name of the State of Oregon, you, the said Ida Squires, are hereby notified of the pendency of the above entitled suit and are required to appear in the Court above entitled at the City of Portland, on the first day of the next term thereof, to be held on the second (2d) Monday of June, 1869, and answer said complaint, or in default thereof, the said complaint will be taken as confessed and the plaintiff will take judgment against you, and a decree according to the prayer of said complaint as above set out, as well as for general relief.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—We clip the following from the Enterprise of Saturday: Hon. D. P. Thompson, of this Senatorial District, has appointed John B. Eglin, of Benton county, student of the Corvallis College, finding none from this part of the State who desired to attend under the patronage of the act designating that as the Agricultural College for Oregon.... The firemen's election held on Monday last, resulted in the choice of A. J. Marshall as Chief Engineer, and J. L. Barlow Assistant. The officers have entered upon their duties. The Chief Engineer requests us to say to all parties having city property in their possession, belonging to the Department, that such must be returned to the Engine House forthwith.....Frank Cooper left this city a few days since, with Chinamen and supplies for the Butte Creek mines and coal fields.....On the night of Wednesday last two prisoners made their escape from the jail in this city by digging through the brick work where it corners upon frame work. It was a very easy job and has been done before. We have not learned the names of the gentry who have thus turned their backs upon the hospitality of Clackamas county, but presume that at all events the loss will be in fact a gain to our tax paying citizens, who already begin to sensibly feel the burdens arising from an increased floating population. We wish the prisoners may go to White Pine, make fortunes, and become respected.....At the late term of the County Commissioners Court, J. M. Bacon resigned his office as Justice of the Peace for Oregon City precinct, and Jacob Hunsaker, Jr., was appointed J. P. to fill the vacancy. Capt. Fish was appointed as Justice of the Peace to fill a vacancy occasioned by the death of Daniel Trullinger.

BIRD MENTION.—The dredger is at work effectively at the mouth of the Wallamet river. The snag upon which the Ajax broke her propeller, some time since, was removed last week.....There were interesting exercises, yesterday, at the Monthly Missionary Concert at the M. E. Church. There was in attendance a very full audience.....The County Commissioners were engaged on Saturday in auditing accounts and adjusting claims against the county.....There was no service at Oro Fino Theater, last evening, in consequence of the internal repairs which are being made.....The vacancy in the office of [illegible] caused by the resignation of Mr. Costello, will be filled by the Commissioners at the May term.....This week will be devoted, in the Circuit Court, mostly to the trial of criminal cases.....The new sash and door factory being built for Messrs. Carson & Porter, adjoining Moss and Stimson's saw mill, will be ready for the machinery in about tow weeks.....There were two or three accidents out on the road yesterday though not of a serious nature. There were great numbers of people driving out, enjoying the particularly pleasant weather.

UP THE WALLAMET.—We learn from the Unionist that Pierpont Thayer gave readings at Griswold Theater Saturday evening.....The Capital Engine Co. is taking steps to procure a new fire engine.....A man named Wm. H. Leininger is at work upon a flying machine. It is stated that he has been able to lift with it one hundred and twenty pounds.....The commencement exercises at the Wallamet University were well attended..... The Circuit Court will convene on Monday, the 8th..... We hear of several gold mines in the vicinity of Salem who are going to start in a few days for Goose Lake, in Jackson county. The four members of "The Thing," afloat Legislature, who met here a few days since, have all shaken the dust from their feet and left town.....At a meeting of the Medical Faculty of the Wallamet University, Dr. Payton was elected President, and Dr. Carpenter re-elected Dean.....Mr. Lemly, County Treasurer, called on Mr. J. H. [illegible] yesterday for the greenbacks tendered to the State for [illegible] of Lane county in 1863. The amount was [illegible] which sum has been on deposit in Mr. Moore's safe for five years.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Oriflamme, Connor commander, sailed for San Francisco at 11 A. M. yesterday. The following is her list of passengers: Mrs. Hungate and three children, Dr. G. W. D. W. McCarron, R. Meinke, L. Millard, P. H. Foster, [illegible]n, A. J. Huhler, S. Myers, L. Hirsch, E. Hirsch, C. [illegible]ehey, Capt. Wm. Kohl, Judge S. W. Brockway, Dr. J. T. [illegible] O. L. Saund[illegible], M. J. O'Connor, Rev. J. Crossman, wife and two children, Frank Aiken, A. J. Brown, O. H. [illegible]ch, W. G. C[illegible]an, James Elliot, A. Legrand, A. Wal[illegible]n, S. Beck, J. Myers, Fred Currier, S. S. Thompson, J. F[illegible], Mrs. S. Ridoff, Wm. Graham, wife and boy, J. [illegible] P. Silverman, L. G[illegible]mar, Jennie Marks, Martha Jane[illegible] Marks, Miss Annie Marks, Jacob Marks, wife and three children, Geo. H. Clarke and wife, E. D. Towl, L. S. Billy S. M. Re[illegible], Mrs. Dunlway, Miss L. Kigin, Miss E. Myers, B. [illegible]y, Jas. Cawey, C. W. Higgins, E. Fox, W. Jenkins, Julius Jay, Mrs. D. O'Neil, Mrs. J. W. Bellwood, P. Bent, L. Smith, A. [illegible]. S. Wells, A. Hen[illegible]t, Henry M. Cr[illegible]n, J. W. [illegible]. W. P. A.", Jas. Trumbull, J. Stillwell, and twelve in the steerage.

DOWN THE COAST.—Arrived at Astoria sept. 6th the following items: Capt. [illegible] of the Light-house Board will leave by the Cyane for San Francisco, to bring up the cutter Shubrick to be used in this [illegible] District.....Lieut.-Commander W. [illegible] U. S. N., [illegible] the 13th district.....The Ball given last evening by Lieut. Bush, Horne, Ross, Price and others, of the U. S. A. B., was a decided success.....Mr. Ferrell's new saw mill is in successful operation, turning out about twenty thousand feet every day.....J. B. Knapp [illegible] by the Oriflamme, and intends putting up additional machinery at the Cement Works. He has a contract for ten thousand barrels of cement, to be delivered in San Francisco by the 1st of April.....Judge Olney expects to commence work on the Custom House by the first part of April.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—The following business was had Saturday:

Charles H. Page vs. steamboat Wenat; demurrer to complaint sustained; motion for judgment by default disallowed.

[illegible] vs. steamboat Wenat; demurrer to complaint sustained; motion for judgment by default disallowed.

James L. Daly vs J. M. Baldwin et al; motion to strike out part of answer overruled.

State of Oregon vs. D. P. Fox; jury failed to agree and were discharged.

Court adjourned until Monday morning at 9 o'clock

ARRIVALS.—The Herald says, "The schooner [illegible] Astoria on the 25th of November last, [illegible] her destination on the 30 of January, [illegible] ge of forty days. One of her passengers, a friend in this city, says, the little vessel [illegible] ape on the voyage, such as the breaking [illegible] springing the bowsprit and carrying [illegible] besides sustaining other injuries. The luck[illegible] craft, after being overhauled and repaired, took on board a quantity of salt for ballast, and was ready to sail for Port Townsend on the 30 ult., where she will be [illegible] for sale."

ROLL FROM A BRIDGE.—A little boy of perhaps eight years, son of Mr. Mitchell, of First street, fell from the [illegible] bridge at the head of Fourth street, yesterday [illegible]ked injuries which it is feared may prove fatal. [illegible] from a height of about forty feet while trying to vault one of the stringers. This is the second boy who has fallen from the bridge within the last few weeks. We learn that it is a very common thing to see a troop of boys—very small ones sometimes—running races across this bridge, upon the timbers. It is a practice which should be stopped, if possible.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—The following was the proceedings of Saturday.

[illegible] vs. steamship Fidelifer—Court occupied in hearing testimony.

In the matter of Muller & Brentano; in bankruptcy; continued until the 13th inst.

United States vs. steambont Ranier; order to pay the [illegible] part of balance of proceeds of sale in registry of the Court.

BEEF CATTLE.—On Friday, Messrs. Spaulding & Cline, [illegible] of this city, purchased of Mr. S. C. Scroggin, of [illegible], sixty head of very fine, stall-fed beef cattle, [illegible] cents per pound on foot. It is estimated that the [illegible]d weight will be not less than eight hundred each. The whole sum paid was therefore $9,000. Mr. Scroggin states that the cost of fitting was about $12 per head.

[illegible]S BE.—We notice that preparations are being made to set out shade trees around the central school house block. If a liberal few were set out within the enclosure, the place will look all the better and more comfortable. As it is now, the block looks bare, bleak and [illegible] enough to give a child an everlasting distaste for school [illegible] and schools.

DEMAND FOR LUMBER.—The Commercial says. At the lower steam saw mill over 300,000 feet of lumber, principally [illegible], was cut last month, or the average number of feet per day would be about 45,000. Several large orders yet remain that are not more than half filled, and there is but little lumber now on the yard.

[illegible] UP FOR REPAIRS.—The steamer Ranger has been laid up for repairs. She will be out again in a week. It is the intention, we learn, of her owner to run her [illegible] trips on the Cowlitz river, once a week, as far as Humphrey's and to Cowlitz Landing occasionally as soon as the stage of water will permit.

STATE OF OREGON VS FOX.—The Herald states that the jury in case of the State vs Fox, stood ten for conviction and two for acquittal. They were discharged after being out twenty-four hours. The case will probably be continued to next term.

[illegible] MOVING.—Scarcely a day passes but a large drove of cattle are shipped hence for Eastern Oregon or Washington Territory. On Saturday a drove of 200 head were sent up on the Cascade, and this morning another drove will be shipped.

HANDSOME INSTRUMENTS.—Mr. H. Blushenmer received by the bark Oswyn, some beautiful pianos which are now on exhibition and for sale at his music store on Front street, between Yamhill and Taylor.

RETURNED.—The Democratic members of the Rump who went to Salem last week, from this part of the State, have returned. They don't talk as though the extra session, as a session, was much of a success.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE says the reason why PLANTATION BITTERS are so generally used is owing to the fact that they are always made up to the original standard and of pure material, let the price be what it will. The Tribune just hits the nail on the head, for Plantation Bitters are not only made of pure material, but the people are told what they are made of as the receipt is wrapped around each bottle. Don't go home without a bottle.

"A SLIGHT COLD."—COUGHS.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" in its first stage, that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. "The Troches" have proved their efficacy by a test of many years, and have received testimonials from eminent men who have used them.

How the New York Tribune is Managed

An editorial council is held in the managing editor's room every day, between the hours of 1 and 2 P. M. Mr. Young presides. Mr. [illegible] McElwain, his private secretary, a stenographer, and one of the reporters at the police headquarters, constitute the table. Four chairs are ranged [illegible] Mr. Hassard, who is a thorough gentleman [illegible] with the exception, have extra regular features, [illegible] at the council [illegible] Edgar [illegible] at Mr. [illegible]. Mr. Hassard writes long articles, frequently [illegible] an editorial steeped in a solution of original humor and sarcasm. In addition to his other duties, Mr. Hassard does the musical [illegible] for the paper. [illegible] Mr. Denslow [illegible] managing editor of the Chicago [illegible]. He has a rich eye, a Napoleonic nose and black mustache. He is the only Mackerel [illegible] in the room. He generally [illegible] armor, and, though his editorials [illegible] conflict with the views of Mr. Greeley, they are marked with deep thought and are carefully prepared. At the [illegible] Mr. Hassard is Professor A. J. Stone, the biographer. He is a large, [illegible] fellow, with eyes of [illegible] blue, and a head broad and well balanced, somewhat resembling a picture of Emerson. The absence of a good growth of hair gives to the appearance of a polished eggplant, dead ripe. His eyes are full of language. He has a happy faculty of catching an unconscious nap during the composition of his editorials. Mr. Cummings, the city and political editor, sits at the foot of the table opposite Mr. Young. He is a pale, thin, blue eyed man, of a nervous sanguine temperament, and never idle at work. During the editorial council he listens with great interest, and fills in the interstices of time by drawing strange characters on the paper before him. Originally a Douglas Democrat, he now believes in Greeley and Horace Greeley. On his right is Mr. C. N. Meeker, the successor of Solon Robinson in the agricultural department. Mr. Meeker is a thin spare man, of an olive complexion, with light blue eyes, and a farmer's face, hands and dress. His desk is usually covered with patent rat traps, pumpkin seeds, cucumbers, bug killers, corn shellers, and similar vegetables and contrivances. Next to Mr. Meeker we find Clarence Cook, the terror of artists and engravers. So trenchant are his criticisms that artists have been known to run from him in the street as they would from a mad dog. Last of all at the table we find Mr. Whitelaw Reid, of Cincinnati, the latest addition to the force. He looks like Theodore Tilton with his angular points rubbed off.

And this is the "staff" of the Tribune. When all are seated, Mr. Young nervously dances around the desk for forty seconds, and then dumps on the table a basket piled with manuscripts, memorandums, and newspaper clippings. Each editor is then asked for his report of the previous day's labor, after which suggestions from every one present are in order. The meeting is then dismissed with the words: "The Trib would look very well to-day, were it not for the poor quality of paper and the infernal press work. I believe the ink is stiff. We must have book ink. Mr. Greeley will write the leader to-morrow morning, gentlemen. If he don't, I will. That's all."

The editors pass out of the door, through the city apartment into the editorial room, and drift to their desks. In ten minutes half a dozen pens are vigorously scratching out ideas for the next day's issue. The child is in embryo, and will be born in the morning. Everything will move with the regularity of clock work. The editorial room resembles a lurking place for owls; the ceiling is low, the floor is dirty, a dozen cane bottomed arm chairs, with high backs; three cases filled with books of reference; ten old desks spattered with ink, two cabinets, a chained copy of the Tribune Almanac, complete; and a dozen old pictures, giving an idea of a smashing business, with an occasional dash at the fine arts.

Let us look at the cabinet adjoining Cummings' desk. In the bottom drawer of this cabinet we find a series of carefully written obituaries of distinguished live men, all arranged alphabetically, and in charge of Dr. Wood. They are curiosities in their way. Here is a bulky one, as thick and as long as your arm. It is marked "Peter Cooper." Here is a second—a Lilliputian roll, small enough to go into a needle case. We find this labelled "The Life of Walt Whitman." These obituaries are found valuable when the news of a celebrated person's death is received at an early hour in the morning.

One word right here about editorial life in New York. A New York journalist never calls on distinguished politicians or literateurs at their hotels. They do this in Philadelphia, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans, but they don't do it here. Mahomet must come to the mountain, for the mountain will not come to Mahomet. This is entre nous.

Some people think and say that Greeley is the Tribune, and the Tribune is Greeley. But one thing is certain: the stockholders of the Tribune are aware of Mr. Greeley's value. They have had his life insured for from $50,000 to $100,000 many years. Mr. Greeley is paid $7,000 a year for his services. This with his dividend of the profits of the establishment, makes quite a snug little sum. He also writes for a dozen magazines and weekly newspapers, besides occasionally throwing off a book, and making stump political speeches and lectures. One day you will hear of him speaking at a Grant meeting at Somerville, New Jersey, the next day he will arraign the Democracy at Honesdale, Pennsylvania; next you will hear of him at a temperance meeting in New York City; on the day following, he will speak before some tariff association; then before some agricultural society, and will top off the week with an address before the Grant and Colfax Club at Chappaqua, his residence. And all the time he keeps his end up on the editorial page. Greeley, without doubt, is to day, the hardest working newspaper man in New York city.

TO WASH FLANNELS.—Flannels that are washed clean in warm suds and rinsed in cold water, shaken out well and pulled into proper shape before hanging out to dry, will not shrink. When ironed, pull them easily again, this will be sufficient to have soft flannel.

A MINT COMPARISON.—The Philadelphia Mint has cost the last three years $139,921 over receipts, while the San Francisco Mint has made an annual income of $42,582.

DANCING ACADEMY.—Prof. Cardinell's classes are held every week day evening, and on Saturday afternoon for children. Hall in Poppleton's Building, First street.

NIGHT SCHOOL.—Mr. Fitzgerald has opened a Night School in the schoolhouse (up stairs) near the Catholic Church. For Terms—See the Teacher.

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, with a view to offer the public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to satisfy the good name acquired by the productions the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the interior a relatively higher price, exposes to upsides of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeits or imitations of his mark seek to deceive the public, passing upon them inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud, an homage to the probity after stroll, but only adds to the favorable opinion of Connoisseurs the very flattering though unwilling testimonies of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 8, 1869.

The Cabinet.

Though the announcement of the Cabinet took most people by surprise, and though undoubtedly a Cabinet might have been formed which would give greater general confidence, the people will not judge hastily but will exercise forbearance and wait for results. Washburne is well known, and from the intimate relations and close confidence which exist between him and the President, it is perhaps but natural that he should be taken into the Cabinet. Some of the Eastern journals think unfavorably of the nomination of A. T Stewart for Secretary of the Treasury; but the fall of gold produced by his nomination would seem to show that in financial circles confidence is reposed in him. The Secretary of the Interior is General Jacob D. Cox, of Ohio, an excellent man, who fought through the war with honor, and who was Governor of Ohio from 1865 to 1867. The Postmaster General is ex-Senator Cresswell, of Maryland, a man of fine attainments and of national reputation for honorable character. Bovie, the Secretary of the Navy, and Hoar, Attorney General, are men of whom we have no knowledge. The Cabinet may be a first rate one, as it may turn out that the men chosen are precisely suited to the requirements of the times. The surprise occasioned by the President's selections naturally produces some unfavorable criticism. But any dissatisfaction which may exist will soon pass away, if the public business is managed, as we believe it will be, with respectable ability and careful honesty.

Small Notes.

The Herald cackles with great glee because of the resignation and withdrawal of the Democratic members of the Indiana Legislature. We suppose it will now cease to condemn the withdrawal of the Republican members of the Legislature of Oregon.

Were we admirers of A. Johnson we would never publish his harangue that appears in our news columns to-day; but as we do not pretend to have any kind feelings for him we give it a place. The most malevolent enemy he has could not do him a greater injury than to give him opportunity to speak, for he always speaks to his own condemnation.

The "March session" of the Legislature "adjourned" on Friday to meet again on the 20th September. As only half of the Democratic members met this time, how many will be able next time? Stout and Chapman will "hold the fort" the palm alone." This farce has made the actors in it the laughing stock of the State.

The gallant Sheridan goes back to New Orleans to take the command. Good! Fidelity to the cause of loyalty will no longer subject the servants of the country to censure and disgrace. It is just that Sheridan should go back and finish his account with the Louisiana rebels. During the canvass those who were supporting Grant felt that one of the objects to be gained by his election was the return of Sheridan to New Orleans.

We hope the poor rag at Salem feels better now, since the "March session" has ended in a farcical collapse. Its fright last week was painful to witness. In its opinion the Democrats were going to do most terrible and revolutionary things. But since the "danger" is past we hope the poor rag has become calm. What a gracious concern the poor rag is, to be sure! The poor rag should always have a smelling bottle handy so as to guard against hysterical outbursts.

The Virginia Judge who hanged John Brown has come before Congress with a petition to have the disabilities which he incurred by his own act of treason removed. Congress should proceed to grant him the favor. John Brown was no more deserving of death for treason than Judge Parker is. It is a cool piece of cursing and cheap talk of the chivalry, for a Judge who hung a man for treason to come before Congress and ask that his own treason be condoned.

A short time ago G. W. Lawson, of Salem, wrote us an article in justification of the secession of the Republican members of the Legislature, which he wanted published. The article was rambling and incoherent, and we did not give it a place. We learn that Lawson is now on the other track, censuring the action of the Republican members, and abusing the Governor for not calling an extra session, and that he has become the loudest of the whole howling pack. Poor Lawson has long been lamented, and if he does not soon change for the better he will find himself an inmate of the Asylum.

The Herald is a great paper on history. It demands to know, "What can you say of his Grant's) disinterestedness in view of the fact that he holds on to his lucrative office of Lieutenant General up to the very day of his inauguration, spite of the manly precedents established by Scott and McClellan, who resigned their military offices as soon as they received a nomination?" That Scott and McClellan resigned as above stated the American people know now for the first time. All former records have stated that Scott did not resign his office at all, and that McClellan did not resign his till November 8, 1864, the day on which the Presidential election in which he was a candidate occurred. The Herald is an enterprising paper in manufacturing history. That Grant was Lieutenant General up to the day of his inauguration" is also a piece of news. As Grant was made General and Sherman Lieutenant General in 1866, there seems to be a remarkable discrepancy somewhere. The Herald is equally great in the history of the present and past generations.

Retort Courteous.

The San Francisco Spectator, an organ of the Methodist Church South, whose editor, Carson Fitzgerald, is a leading Democratic politician and office-holder in California, prints the following:

> Brownlow has a worthy successor. The Knoxville Whig will not lose in those characteristics that have made it notorious for so many years. This is Bro. Pearne's way of devoting himself to the Gospel ministry!

To this Dr. Benson of the Advocate retorts in a manner which takes Rev. Fitzgerald off right at the knees:

> Bro. Pearne retires from the itinerant ministry that he may serve his country in a secular department of labor.

Dr. Fitzgerald continues, in the itinerant vein, albeit he fills a State office to which he was chosen by a political party. Pearne has never been a candidate on any party platform for office. He has repeatedly. If a minister goes from the North and becomes an editor of a Whig paper in Knoxville, it is none of our business. A minister emigrates from the South, and becomes the editor of a Democratic paper in San Francisco, we shall not complain, nor shall we call him a rpet-bagger.

With this statement of the case we now advise Brother Fitzgerald to place the Knoxville Whig at the head of his list of exchanges, and then himself and Bro. Pearne can fight it out on any line that suits them, "if it takes all summer."

STATE ITEMS

The city authorities of Albany have sent to San Francisco to purchase a fire engine. That city has long needed such an "institution."

An "Oystermen's Association" has been organized at Maquina Bay "for the better protection of the oyster beds, and as a means of securing greater benefits to the public than can be derived from said beds in any other way."

From the Benton county records. From Jan. 1st, 1868, to Jan. 1st, 1869, 222 deeds were recorded. During the same period 62 mortgages were recorded and 42 marriage licenses granted. Since the organization of the county 29 patents or donation claimants have been recorded, 1 of which were recorded during the past year.

The Lebanon Water Ditch Company, through Mr. Warner, engineer, have completed the survey of their race. This race or ditch, says the Albany Register, is four miles in length and has a fall of fourteen feet—a natural race, and which will afford a head of about nine feet of water. The cuttings will average about three feet in depth, except in two places, one of which is about thirty rods in length, and will require a cutting of twenty feet in depth. We are assured that the enterprise will be pushed through to a successful completion, and that a first class flouring mill will be erected in Lebanon. A more favorable locality for a flouring mill, when this ditch is completed, cannot be found in this State, having the great prairie of the west and the Forks of the Santiam on the east, from which to draw supplies. An enterprise of this kind, fully carried out, will be a great accommodation to the rich farming community in the vicinity of Lebanon, and will have a revivifying effect upon the community generally.

From the Albany Register: We have received a communication from G. W. Dawson, written at Goose Lake. George thinks Goose Lake valley is the best country for stock on the Pacific slope. Says that their stock has had nothing in the way of feed but grass, yet they have been worked a great portion of the winter and are in good heart. The winter has been very mild indeed. The valley is speedily settling up, cabins going up in every direction. The lake is about seventy-five miles in length by fifteen in width, and abounds in ducks, geese and fish. Plenty of timber on one side of the lake. The health in the valley is spoken of as being tip top—no healthier location on the Pacific coast. Mr. D. says he has been over to Surprise valley (Cal.), and found the inhabitants very much alarmed about the lake in their valley. It seems that the waters in Surprise valley have no outlet, and that they are gradually rising and overflowing the surrounding country; farms that were taken up only four years ago, that were then high and dry, are now nearly or quite under water. Mr. D. advises those who have no homes, to come to Goose Lake early, as there will be a rush the coming spring.

Letter from Curry County.

ELLENSBURG, Feb 22, 1869.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The winter on the coast has been quite mild, no snow having appeared except that seen inland at a distance, and that only for a few days. Nearly the usual amount of rain has fallen, but the grass and vegetation is rather backward. Cattle, and even sheep are not in very good condition, but still several sales have been made to drovers at fair prices. The yearly sales carry off the surplus stock and yield a handsome income. Drovers find no difficulty in getting stock over our "trails;" they rather meet with difficulty in the way of purchasing as much stock as they want. Emigrants will find plenty of excellent stock range, and a fair amount of arable land adjacent, while timber lands abound. Senator Williams could scarcely have intended becoming one of Grant's Cabinet on or about January 19th, as he wrote a letter under that date to a gentleman of this place stating that he intended visiting this section this coming summer. It is to be hoped by the dwellers on this coast that he will. While Coos and Curry have always been on the Union side, the majorities might be increased, and the good and true encouraged by visits and speeches. But somehow we have always had the go by—not one speaker of any eminence having been here. We shall, therefore, duly welcome the eloquent Senator. Surveying of the lands of Coos and Curry, hitherto neglected by the Government much to the detriment of lumber enterprises, as well as also of settlers for agricultural pursuits etc., will be hereafter attended to, Senator Corbett having interested himself so far in the matter as to obtain a statement from the Secretary of the Interior to that effect. This will be gladly noted by the citizens of these counties. TELEGRAM.

Cairo at Night.

Cairo at night is a city to make all observers sad. The singing cafes, or casinos, the gambling houses, the little theater, are all full of rabble of all European nations. Greeks and Italians and Maltese are here drinking and quarreling nightly. They are the outcasts of Greece and its islands, of Italy and of Malta, whilst the French and English mingled amongst them, with the exception of the officials, of course, and of those engaged on the Suez Canal, and of the "Overland" Indian passengers, are among the worst specimens of both countries. The description of the refugees who joined David in the Cave of Abdullam would exactly suit them.

The Turks and Egyptians do not usually keep late hours. Like all Oriental people they retire and rise early. Except when their festivals, religious or national, make them trench on the hours of night, they usually retire to rest soon after sunset and rise with the sun.

The singing in the casinos of Cairo and Alexandria, and the acting to their theaters, are bad travesties of the singing and acting in Italy and France, in the provincial towns. Painted ladies, whose dresses are made to exhibit as much as possible of their figures, put themselves into the attitudes of a Grisi, a Jenny Lind, a Nilsson, or a Patti, and emit lugubrious sounds, intended for the finest airs in the last popular opera; and as to the ballet dancing, it is suitable for the audience, and nothing worse can be said of it.

Assassinations are not unfrequent, both by day and by night, in the streets of Cairo as well as in the Esbekyeh. Sometimes firearms are used in the assassinations, but more frequently stilettoes. The few respectable European residents in Cairo have got so accustomed to this state of things that, when they hear of a new quarrel followed by a new murder, they merely observe: A worthless Greek or Italian the less in the world, nothing more." Before the shop of M. Magrini, the librarian, in Alexandria, an Italian was suddenly attacked by two other Italians, and stabbed. He fell, sorely wounded and almost insensible, upon the pavement, a crowd collecting around him as the assassins quietly walked away. "And why did you not arrest them?" indignantly asked a French lady of one of those who were present, and had narrated the circumstance. "Pas si bete." was the answer, very emphatically delivered: pas si bete! we do not mix ourselves in their quarrels. They are an utterly vile, and contemptible and revengeful set of men."

Another character of the capital is Spofford, and if I were asked to say who of all the employes of the government was the hardest worker, I should mention him. He is custodian and catalogue of 175,000 volumes, the largest library this side of the sea. He probably knows by actual inspection or intimate hearsay the nature of each of these volumes. He works in the library from nine to five with the punctuality of a bank clerk, almost all the time on his feet, and frequently remains up far in the night cataloguing, inspecting, manipulating, or rather manuvering this great army with the scrupulousness of an Adjutant-General. He is a black-haired energy, with an everlasting work for his destiny, and as truly in his appropriate place here as Seth Williams was in the Adjutant's office of the army. This library has been tumbled upon Spofford by the score of thousands of book at once, so that it had a long start of him. He is catching up, he keeps the book publishers up to the notch of their legal contributions. Work is, in his eye, as absolutely expressed, as the allegory of industry is expressed in the picture over the dome.—Letter to the St Louis Democrat.

PROMISING, YOUNG IRISHMAN.—In a series of funny papers in the Irish Republic, one Alderman Mick is described as follows:

> When I taught school in Greenfield, Kilkenny, this same Michael was a poor scholar at my seminary. He was a poor scholar, figuratively and literally speaking. He was a ragged remnant of a very ragged family, and as for learning, he thoroughly ignored it. The turf he brought to school he stole from the farmers on the way, and I must say he was most liberal in his donation. To make up for his liberality in the turf business, he always managed to watch my dinner pot boiling. He beat out all the sword swallowers I ever saw in doing away with red hot lumpers. Ah, there was no field for such a genius in Kilkenny. Had he remained in Ireland, he would be driving a car away to the town of Callan with stolen turf to sell, walking the endless stairs of a tread mill, or supplying storage for gruel in a poor house. Fates ordained it otherwise.

Proceedings of the Five and a half Session

From our Long Hand Reporter.

SALEM, March 4, 1869.

The capitol appendage was called to order by one John Whiteaker. Present, 11 to 13 members of the Oregon Legislature. Then with them it was "as if nature made a pause, an awful pause" and no clergyman appearing to pray with them, they adjourned to meet in the afternoon.

AFTERNOON.

Prayer made at two o'clock. Present 1 which is not so, but the gentleman from Josephine was appointed, and thereafter the members, with 1 extra, was 14.

Chapman arose and asked for time to prepare resolutions. As time was plenty, the request was granted. An eloquent silence of sixty minutes ensued.

The resolution was intended to notify the Governor that there was no quorum in attendance on this occasion, and to ask him whether he would require the several counties unrepresented in this body to elect and send representatives. Adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

March 5.—They met at 10 o'clock. After reading the doings of the previous day, Gray and Grant arose and announced that they were both here. The body then went into executive stillness on the state of the State. "Silence how dead and stillness how profound." Not a leaf, nor a book, nor a man stirred, until Cox arose, and without verbosity, though in sepulchral tones, moved to adjourn.

Motion unanimously agreed to.

AFTERNOON.

Two o'clock. Present 13. Silence was resumed for about twenty minutes, when the Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor reported that he knew them not. After some silence a motion to adjourn to three and a half o'clock carried.

THREE AND A HALF O'CLOCK.

Present 3. 11 others soon arrived, wiping their mouths, took their seats, and sat mute. After a period of expressive silence the roll was called, when silence again caught the sound, and there in his icy embrace for half an hour sat those surly scions. At length Gilfry, the young and rising resolutioner, moved to wait only until four and a half o'clock for a quorum.

FOUR AND A HALF O'CLOCK.

No more present. Cox moved to appoint a Committee to issue a circular, but they couldn't see it. Judge Boise was requested to bring suit in his own Court against the Governor, when some one moved to desist till five o'clock. Carried.

At five o'clock they met again, and prorogued themselves until September 20, when the public are invited to a seat in the Oregon Legislature.

Thus passed away "as much glory as could die."

CONCLUDING REFLECTION.

It is a good thing because it don't cost the State a cent. But Josh Billings's advice, which your long hand reporter commends to these solons, is also a good thing and shan't cost them a cent; and the same runs in this wise: "Never set a hen till she wants to set." THE END.

Illegal Naturalizations.

[From the Stockton (Cal.) Independent.]

The decision of Judge Hoffman of the United States District Court, which we publish in extenso in another portion of this paper, is worthy of and demands more than casual notice. James M. Makins, the defendant in the case decided, is a prominent Democratic politician, was formerly a member of the Assembly of the State of California and during the late Presidential campaign was the chosen and trusted appointee of the Democratic State Central Committee, on whom that Committee mainly devolved the duty of attending to and facilitating the procurement of naturalization papers which should be adequate to qualify those for whom he procured them to exercise the right of suffrage and participate in the settlement of National questions of perhaps vital import. Mr. Makins was remarkable active and efficient in the performance of his responsible and important duties; so much so, that on certain favorable days for the manufacture of citizens, he is said to have fed the mills with sufficient grist sufficient to procure eight superfine sovereigns per minute. We have no reason to believe that Mr. Makins made invidious discrimination between one and others of the objects of his solicitude and exertions, but feel justified in the opinion that all were treated alike, and that the certificates obtained through the instrumentality of the indefatigable Makins were exactly similar to all others issued by the Clerk of the United States District Court. On one of the certificates thus procured, Mr. Burke proceeded and was permitted to assist in swaying the destinies of the "greatest government the sun ever shone upon," and the United States Grand Jury indicted Mr. James N. Makins for fraudulently procuring said certificate, and through its instrumentality wrongfully conferred citizenship upon said Burke. To this indictment Makins demurred, setting forth as his ground of demurrer that the certificate disposed of by him to Burke was a genuine certificate, to the same extent with any others now or for a long series of years issued by the Court of Judge Hoffman and his predecessors, but that neither this nor any other issued by the Clerk of that court conformed to the requirements of the law which he was charged with violating. The Judge, in an opinion, the argument of which is invulnerable to successful assault, sustains the demurrer, thereby admitting that for a long series of years, under the very judicial noses of himself and his learned, faithful and efficient predecessors, papers have been habitually issued by the Clerk of his Court, bearing the broad seal of said Court, which purported and intended to convey the inestimable privileges and prerogatives of citizen sovereignty, and yet were utterly valueless for that or any other purpose. The decision is a most humiliating admission of official carelessness or inefficiency, in a position where such traits are least excusable. Probably thousands have been placed in a position giving them power to perhaps overthrow the Republic, and the Judge by whose presumedly deliberate and conscientious adjudication this power has been conferred, very coolly informs us that his attention has never heretofore been directed to the sufficiency or character of the papers conferring such inestimable privileges! For a long series of years the elective franchise has been outraged and citizens fairly entitled to naturalization have been trifled with, and sent away from one of our highest courts with valueless papers bearing its seal and purporting to confer priceless benefits, and yet the Court is only made aware of these infamies when they are invoked to screen an alleged criminal for an intention to make infamous use of them. It is high time, surely, that a healthy public opinion should make itself heard and felt, and that agitation should be commenced and persisted in, until our naturalization laws shall have been overhauled and made effective, not only to effectually grant citizenship to worthy aliens, but also to protect these and native citizens from fraudulent attempts by the unworthy and their swindling helpers and instigators, but, above all, there should be tireless agitation until the procedure of our courts is governed by better and safer rules than the decision of Judge Hoffman gives us to understand have prevailed in the United States District Court of California. If Mr. Makins can procure the usual certificates of that court, and furnish them to persons not entitled to citizenship without amenability for fraud, citizenship and the right of suffrage are but paltry affairs, ally worth the blood and treasure that have been wasted in their defense.

METHODISM IN NEW YORK.—The New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Christian Advocate says that there are several millionaires, and quite a large number of wealthy bankers, merchants and publishers, in New York, "who could build a fifty thousand dollar church and give it outright to the denomination—and that, too, without being anything like as reckless in their gift, as the widow who gave the two mites in the days of the Savior; while the dreadful, solemn fact is that not one of them have built a church or given ten thousand dollars toward building one in this wicked city, where Satan has his seat."

The World observes: "The Indiana Pratt is greater even than the Great: he is higher even than Long John Wentworth, of Illinois, he is stronger than Lieutenant Governor Dunn, of Louisiana; he is six feet four inches high, weighs upwards of three hundred pounds, and his voice is the voice of many waters, wherein he is ahead of Yates and Chandler, whose voices are the voices of many whiskies and waters."

Mr. Spurgeon, the other day, was scolding certain of his followers who declined to interfere in politics on the ground that they were "out of this world." This, he argued, was mere metaphor. "You might as well," he said, "being sheep of the Lord, decline to eat a mutton chop on the plea that it would be cannibalism."

One of the Paris postoffices ordinarily receives about twenty thousand letters every evening between nine and six o'clock. On the last evening of the old year this number increases tenfold, the postoffice being used to distribute visiting cards. Three million cards were distributed by the French postoffice on last New Year's day.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Bills were introduced by Mr. Sumner for further securing equal rights in the District of Columbia. He asked immediate consideration, but objection was made.

Mr. Grimes introduced a bill to reorganize the navy.

Mr. Patterson introduced a resolution to repeal that portion of the act to establish the Treasury that prohibits any person holding any office instituted by the act, who is concerned directly or indirectly in foreign trade, and asked immediate consideration. Sherman said the bill ought to pass. Sumner said: "I think the bill ought not to be acted on hastily, and I must object." Sumner preferred that it be carefully considered by a committee. Sherman suggested the Committee on Finance, there being no committee to which to refer it. The bill was tabled.

A message was received from the President, requesting the repeal of the law of 1798, in reference to the Secretary of the Treasury, which on motion of Mr. Sumner was tabled and ordered printed.

Mr. Sherman introduced a bill to repeal that part of the law of 1798, which refers to officers of the Treasury, and asked its immediate consideration. Mr. Sumner objected.

The following resolutions introduced yesterday were taken up. Drake's resolution providing for the consideration of Indian treaties in open session, and Sawyer's resolution for a Committee on Political disabilities. They were discussed and referred to the Committee on Rules.

The President presented the resolutions of the Legislature of Kansas ratifying the fifteenth constitutional amendment. The Senate then adjourned.

NEW YORK, March 6.—President Grant to-day ordered the pardon issued by Johnson of Jacob and Moses Depuy, father and son, convicted of receiving seized whisky from the revenue office, to be withheld. Subsequently Mr. Washburne ordered the pardon cancelled and returned to the State Department. The pardon had just been received by Marshal Murray and the prisoners had not yet been released. The order of the Secretary of State was complied with.

Washington News.

Washburne, Cresswell and Stewart were with the President during the forenoon, but there was no formal organization of the Cabinet.

The military staff of Gen. Grant are still on duty as secretaries of the President, but his intention is shortly to appoint civilians to the different offices in the household. Dent, Comstock and Porter will be assigned to the staff of Sherman.

The acting Secretaries of the Departments were summoned to the Executive Mansion at noon. The object was to ascertain the condition of public matters, and to instruct them to transact only routine business until the Secretaries take charge. Mr. Cresswell intends entering on his duties this afternoon. Gen. Sherman is still sick. A dispatch is received from Havre, announcing that he will be in the city on Wednesday. Mr. Dolano has not yet qualified. Mr. Rollins will leave next week.

Brigadier General Forsythe, recently wounded in the Indian engagements, is in the city.

Cabinet Matters.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A message from the President was sent to the Senate to-day requesting the relief of Stewart from the law of 1798, prohibiting persons engaged in trade from being Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Sherman introduced a bill for that purpose, and Mr. Sumner objected and the bill went over.

CHICAGO, March 6.—A private dispatch from New York says there is great excitement at Washington. Washburne has resigned and goes to France, and the Senate has passed a resolution declaring Stewart ineligible. It is waiting for two more names to come in.

Military Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—General order No. 10 was issued from headquarters to-day, by direction of the President, giving command of the Department of the South to General A. H. Terry. Gen. Meade is assigned to the Military Division of the Atlantic, and will remove his headquarters to Philadelphia, and transfer his present command temporarily to Brevet Major General Ruger, who is assigned to duty according to his brevet.

General Sheridan is assigned to the command of the Department of Louisiana, and will transfer the command of the Department of Missouri temporarily to the next senior officer.

General Hancock is assigned to the Department of Dakota, and Gen. Canby is assigned to the command of the First Military District of Virginia, and to proceed to his post as soon as relieved by General Reynolds.

General Gillem, of the 24th Infantry, is transferred to the command of the 5th District according to brevet rank of Major General.

The Pollard Murder.

RICHMOND, March 6.—The jury in the case of Grant, charged with the murder of Rives Pollard, have rendered a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner is discharged.

Notable Death.

BALTIMORE, March 6.—Rev. Charles Gillett, of Brooklyn, agent of the American Board of Missions of the Episcopal Church, fell dead to-day in this city.

New York News.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Mr. Seward arrived at the custom house this afternoon and has been besieged with visitors ever since. He declines to express his views on public matters, but expresses favorable opinions of Grant's Cabinet. Collector Smythe forwarded his resignation to Washington to day.

A large meeting of merchants, opposed to the protective system, was held here to-day. Dudley Field, in a speech, approved the appointment of Mr. Stewart, understanding him to favor free trade.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Mess pork, $31¼; beef dull—plain at $16 and extra at $18. Butter firm at 38c for Ohio, per quarter.

From Cuba.

HAVANA, March 6.—Jose De Armos, recently sent as Commissioner by Dulce, to the insurgents, it is alleged, has issued a proclamation at Nassau impugning the actions of Dulce Corea. A companion of De Armos denounces the proclamation as a forgery and the statements therein false.

The Revolutionary General, Quesada, is sick with the small pox.

CIENFUEGOS, March 4.—Many insurgents are near Bast. The news is favorable to the government still. No sugar is coming here. The insurgents are increasing. The prospects are gloomy for the troops which fought near Santa Espiritos.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, March 6.—Seven Fenians, imprisoned in various parts of the kingdom, are liberated. They are Thos. J. F. Burke, the American Fenian organizer, Charles Cheekwell, one of the editors of the Irish People, Captain McKay, O'Connor, Starke and O'Keefe. The three latter were liberated unconditionally.

PARIS, March 6.—Vintry is appointed President of the Senate vice Troplouse deceased. La Roonguala succeeds Vintry as President of the Council, and Rouher takes the Interior Department, provisionally, in addition to the foreign Portfolio.

LONDON, March 6.—Evening rumors from the Continent, again mention the death of the Pope.

Later advices from Rio Janeiro, report the U. S. steamer Kansas aground off Viletta, in the Paraguay river.

LIVERPOOL, March 8.—California wheat 10s 5d per quarter.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Judge McKinstry sustained the Pilot Commissioners, in their proceedings, on which the dismissal of Capt. Jolliffe was based.

Dr. Josh Josselyn, for producing an abortion, was sentenced to three years in the State Prison, and admitted to bail in the sum of $6,500, pending an appeal to the Supreme Court.

There were sixty four deaths this week, including seven from small pox.

The North Pacific Steamship Co is successor to the C., O. & M. S. S. Co., whose business will be transferred from New York to San Francisco.

An old lady of seventy years was knocked down by a velocipede, on Howard street, and seriously injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Officer Brasche was struck on the head with a paving stone last night and severely injured. His assailants escaped.

Three men were captured in the bay, opposite Fort Point, yesterday, and were rescued by the schooner Kittie Stevens.

Isaac Lustig has been held to bail in the sum of $2,000 for alleged perjury.

Collector Muller has received the following dispatch from J. H. Hartley, Acting Secretary of the Treasury, dated Washington, March 6: General John F. Miller, Collector of Customs. St Paul's and St. George's Islands, Alaska, are, by act of March 3d, made Government reservations. It is unlawful for any person to land or remain unless authorized by this Department; persons found there contrary to law to be removed by the Secretary of War. Natives will not be disturbed as long as they observe the regulations respecting the killing of seals. The six persons suffered to remain by prior instructions, will be undisturbed under like conditions. Detain the Lincoln until further directions.

Shipping

Arrived, March 7th—Ship Prudate, 149 days from New York.

On the death of Princess Charlotte, when a wail of sorrow came from every pulpit in Great Britain, a celebrated divine startled his listeners with the text: "Take this cursed woman and bury her, for she is a king's daughter." This was not designed as an insult, far from it for the preacher in his sermon took the view that if such a character as Jezebel was should be buried with pomp simply because of royal birth, how much greater should be the respect shown to the memory of so virtuous a woman as the Princess Charlotte.

ENTERPRISE TRIUMPHANT.—The OREGON DISPENSARY is establishing a reputation second to no house on the coast as a first class and Cheap Drug Store.

Our success has been so flattering that we have sent for another Apothecary. We have also secured the valuable services of Dr. J. A. CHAPMAN as Consulting Surgeon and Physician, thus giving evidence of our desire to afford the best of everything to our patrons for their liberal patronage. LORYEA & KALLENBERG, 73 First street.

OPPOSITION LINE OF STEAMERS.—A private letter from San Francisco says that a strong and well regulated Steamship company was formed in that city for the purpose of running a line of steamers regularly between San Francisco and Portland. The steamers are known to be suitable for the Oregon trade, and are noted for good speed and splendid passenger accommodation. The people of Oregon will have an opportunity of showing whether they are willing to patronize good and staunch steamers, at a reasonable price for freight and passage, as it will depend on the patronage these steamers will receive whether they will remain in our waters or not.

While you think of opposition, remember that KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street, have the finest stock of Clothing and Dry Goods, and sell at very low prices.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these timekeepers.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches, COMBINING THE BEST AND LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, and at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch, merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

For sale by all dealers.

No watches retailed by the Company.
